In the spring breeze of West Lake in March, it is a good time for outings. In the past two days, Hangzhou has cleared up, and people exclaimed: Hangzhou is too beautiful this season!

The more than one hundred Somei Yoshino cherry blossoms in the Canal Asian Games Park are also in their blooming season. Let's follow the camera to explore the garden.

Yunhe Asian Games Park is located in the north of Shenhua Road, south of Liuxiang Road, west of Xueyuan North Road, and east of Fengtan Road, covering an area of more than 700 acres.

Taking Yuying Road as the boundary, it is divided into two areas: north and south.

To the north, there is a "Hangzhou Umbrella" (Canal Asian Games Park Stadium, Hangzhou Asian Games hockey venue). To the south, it looks like a "Jade Cone" (Canal Asian Games Park Gymnasium, Hangzhou Asian Games Table Tennis Stadium).

More than one hundred Somei Yoshino cherry trees are scattered throughout the park. Most of the trees were just planted this year, but the flowering in the first year was also very good.

According to the staff, each cherry tree has a diameter of about 20 cm, and the trees are more than ten years old. In addition to cherry blossoms, magnolia flowers, and osmanthus flowers are also a major attraction in the park.

The park is still being improved, and this year's National Day holiday may be officially opened to the outside world. By this time in 2022, the cherry blossoms will be better! Remember to enjoy the flowers then!
